This story can be reproduced by whichever means one can think of, such as, but not limited to, photocopying, yodeling, or reading aloud on Oxford Street on a rainy autumn afternoon, provided that the author is referenced, the content is not modified and the reproduction is not done commercially.

The street cleaner

I meet him every morning on my way to the subway. He is there on the same street corner, sweeping and shoveling up heaps of fallen leaves. We greet each other. It is a pleasant part of the daily routine.

About The Author

Börkur is an avid storyteller with a keen eye for quirky characters, funny dialogs and vivid scenario descriptions. Much of his writing falls within the genre of realistic fiction and his stories are more often than not based on real events in the author's life. Although the tales contain grains of truth, they are melded with fiction, making the reader curious to know the line between reality and fantasy.
